Job Description

Lecturer - Real Estate - Business

Lecturer - Real Estate - Haas School of Business

The Haas School of Business at the University of California, Berkeley is generating an applicant pool of qualified temporary instructors to teach courses in Real Estate as a lecturer should an opening arise. The pool will remain in place for one year. Positions may range up to 33% time, and applications are typically reviewed for summer session course needs in April, fall course needs in May, and in November for spring course needs.

General Duties:

In addition to teaching responsibilities, general duties include holding office hours, assigning grades, advising students and preparing course materials.

Basic qualifications:

The minimum qualification to be an applicant is a Bachelor Degree or equivalent international degree at time of application.

Preferred qualifications:

A minimum of 2 years' experience in the professional practice of the Real Estate field at a business, government or not-for-profit organization by start date. A JD or a MBA, or equivalent international degree, by start date. Higher education teaching experience and advanced degree by start date are preferred. Candidates for our lecturer positions, whose track record integrate considerations for diversity in the curricular content (e.g.; people of color, women, LGBTQ, or differently abled) as relevant to (specific group) as described above, are highly desirable.

Salary for all positions will be competitive and commensurate with qualifications.

Haas School of Business is committed to creating an inclusive environment, one that is supportive of all individuals, regardless of background. We are committed to building an excellent and diverse faculty, staff, and student body, and we welcome applicants whose experiences have prepared them to contribute to this commitment.
