Job Description

Ngā kōrero mō te tūranga - About the role

Based on our Hamilton campus you will produce research of a high standard in your specialist area of digital business, and actively communicate the impact of that research within the Division and beyond. In addition to teaching a range of undergraduate and postgraduate subjects, you will supervise Honours, Masters and PhD students in their academic journey.

This is a full-time position (37.5 hours a week). Salary will be in the range from $87,500 to $104,322 per year for the lecturer role and $107,177 to $140,599 per year for the senior lecturer role, salary will be dependent on the skills, knowledge and experience brought to the position.

For more information on the role please see the position description for a Lecturer please use this link: https://expressonline.haineslink.co.nz/pdfs/785453_jobdesc.pdf

For the Senior Lecturer role position description, please use this link: https://expressonline.haineslink.co.nz/pdfs/785453_jobdesc.pdf

For a confidential conversation about the role, please contact Associate Professor Stuart Dillon, stuart.dillon@waikato.ac.nz

Ko wai koe? - Who are you?

You will have a PhD (or be near to completion) in Digital Business, Information Systems, or a related discipline with knowledge of Contemporary Digital Business topics. Knowledge of Artificial Intelligence, Project Management and Business Analytics would be highly valued, but not essential.

You will apply your teaching skills, including the ability to lecture to large classes as well as conducting small group seminars and tutorials effectively. You will be motivated to be involved in all aspects of teaching and learning, including developing research informed material, and delivering content in innovative ways both face-to-face and online. You will be a supportive supervisor of graduate and postgraduate students and their research, alongside your own impactful research, relevant to Digital Business.

Ko wai mātou? - Who are we?
