The Accountancy & Finance Discipline is nationally and internationally recognised for excellence in teaching and research. It offers three accredited masters programmes: Master of Accounting; MSc in International Accounting and Analytics; and MSc in Corporate Finance which is affiliated with the CFA Institute. At undergraduate level, it delivers a dedicated BComm (Accounting) and offers specialist streams in Accounting and Finance within the Bachelor of Commerce programme. The Discipline also contributes to the School's flagship MBA programme, delivering modules in corporate governance, performance management, and accounting.

A key component of teaching across programmes is the integration of environmental, social, and governance (ESG) perspectives, aiming to develop skilled, engaged, and civically minded graduates who make positive contributions to society, business, and policy.

Candidates should hold a PhD in accounting or an accounting-related field and have a publication record and research supervision experience commensurate with the grade of appointment - preferably in areas of strength of the Accountancy & Finance group. Candidates should have significant teaching experience in accounting modules at undergraduate and post graduate levels (e.g. auditing, financial accounting, management accounting). Preference will be given to applicants with an ability to teach across more than one accounting area. The successful candidate will have proven leadership skills, with a demonstrated ability to mentor staff and contribute to the strategic direction of the discipline. Strong interpersonal and communication skills are essential. The successful candidate will lead the Discipline of Accountancy and Finance, contribute to the leadership and development of the School; engage in scholarship and research; carry out relevant teaching and assessment at all levels; and contribute to the intellectual life of the University and the wider community.
